Potential strike worries minister

Paramedics. About 800 staffers could be off the job by Saturday

No contract

The paramedics, who will be in a legal strike position as of Saturday, have been without a contract since 2011.

Health Minister Dave Wilson says he is troubled by the possibility of a strike by the province's 800 paramedics on Saturday but is optimistic a resolution can be reached before then.

"I'm extremely concerned about the impact a potential strike from paramedics will have on Nova Scotians," Wilson said Thursday.

Wilson, himself a former paramedic, said he is hopeful that the union that represents the paramedics and their employer can come to an agreement to avert a strike now that a mediator has been appointed.

He said the provincial government has contingency plans in place with Nova Scotia's district health authorities, though he did not elaborate on what those were.

The government named John Clarke, a St. John's arbitrator and lawyer, to mediate the contract talks between the International Union of Operating Engineers, Local 727, and Emergency Medical Care Inc.

The union has said that outstanding issues include wages and a demand for defined-benefit pensions. It has also expressed its desire for a standard three-year deal instead of a five-year contract as suggested by the employer.

Emergency Medical Care has said it is committed to reaching an agreement and will leave discussion of the union's demands at the bargaining table. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Percy Paris

Court date changed for N.S. politician charged with assault

A spokeswoman for Nova Scotia's Public Prosecution Service says the case of former provincial cabinet minister Percy Paris, who is charged with assault and uttering threats, is scheduled in court on Friday.

The 65-year-old Paris resigned as minister of economic and rural development last month after saying he lost his composure during an incident outside a washroom in the legislature.

Police laid the charges after Liberal member Keith Colwell alleged he was assaulted by the New Democrat politician.

Trade deal?

Euro economic problems keep me up at night: Flaherty

With rumours that a trade deal may be close between Canada and the European Union, federal Finance Minister Jim Flaherty told an audience in Halifax that he remains worried about the economy in the world's largest market.

Speaking following a dinner hosted by the Atlantic Institute for Market Studies, Flaherty says the European economy is still in recession and doesn't look like it's about to "leap out." He says he has kept his eye on serious housing bubbles in Ireland and Spain and says Canada has taken its own steps to avoid a similar problem.

Tropical storm. First named storm of 2013 season expected to track near Atlantic Canada on Saturday

ruth.davenport@metronews.ca

Meteorologists say it's too soon to know precisely what the impact of the first named tropical storm of the season will be on Nova Scotia, but it will likely take the form of rain.

Tropical storm Andrea had top sustained winds of 120 km/h on Thursday afternoon, sitting just west of Florida and moving northeast at 27 km/h.

Paula Sutherland of the Canadian Hurricane Centre said it's expected to track near or over Nova Scotia on Saturday.

"We are looking at it becoming more of a rainfall event for us," she said. "There's still some uncertainty right now with the specific track of the system and how much rain or the weather conditions associated with this."

Andrea is the forerunner of what's expected to be an active or very active hurricane season in the North Atlantic ocean. The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration is predicting a 70 per cent likelihood of 13 to 20 named storms, of which seven to 11 could become hurricanes — including three to six major hurricanes.

The seasonal average is 12 named storms, six hurricanes and three major hurricanes.

June 1 is considered the official start of the hurricane season, and Sutherland said it's a little unusual to see a named storm headed for Atlantic Canada so soon.

"It is not unheard of that we have storms coming up and affecting us this early, but it isn't the norm," she said.

Hurricane season runs through the end of November.

Where the streets have no cars

Switch. People, not vehicles, welcome

HALEY RYAN
haley.ryan@metronews.ca

Switch Open Streets won't be closing any roads on Sunday — just putting them to better use.

Ross Soward, Switch organizer and community planner, said there isn't much traffic on the weekends in Halifax so bringing thousands of people onto the streets — instead of vehicles — is a better use of infrastructure.

"As opposed to being a road closure, we like to see it as sort of a road opening, but for people as opposed to vehicles," Soward said about the second annual event.

From 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, two kilometres of roadway will be closed to vehicles to allow people to walk, skateboard, bike or run from North and Agricola Street down North Park, Bell Road, to finish up at Spring Garden.

Quoted

"At the end of the day, streets are public space, and so it's kind of getting people to think a little bit differently about that."

Ross Soward, Switch organizer

The first Switch event in September brought close to 4,000 people out to explore Halifax neighbourhoods at a slower pace, and Soward is hoping for a similar turnout.

"The idea has always been for it to be more than a one-off type event ... where it happens on regular basis and becomes much more integrated into the regular routine of how people interact with the city," Soward said.

"Like the first Sunday of the summer months, Switch is just kind of a no-brainer."

Like the last Switch event, Soward said organizers left programming open to the community to allow for spontaneous events like a DJ spinning music in the street, or a zumba class on the North Common.

"We kind of create this canvas and the community comes out and kind of paints it," said Soward of the different yoga, biking and dancing events.

Free bike rentals and tune-ups are also available at Victoria Park, and bicycle track demonstrations are going on at University Avenue as part of Switch's partnership with Bike Week.

Soward said more Open Street events will be held in Dartmouth in August and Halifax in September.

Dog park assault

Halifax police seeking suspect

Halifax police say a man was punched in the face trying to break up a dog fight in Shubie Park.

The alleged assault happened on May 28 just before 7 p.m. Police say they were called to an off-leash area of the popular Dartmouth park near Locks Road after the 30-year-old victim was punched by another dog owner when their two animals started fighting.

Police say the suspect fled on a mountain bike after punching the victim, who wasn't injured.

The suspect is described as a man in his 40s, about six-foot-three, bald and with a thin build. He was driving a dark-coloured mountain bike and his dog was an American pit bull.

Police are notifying the public about it now in response to a follow-up inquiry from another Shubie Park user via the Halifax Regional Police Facebook page.

"Annie is sort of the person who's taken the portrait of the baby-boom generation," said gallery director Ray Cronin during an announcement Thursday.

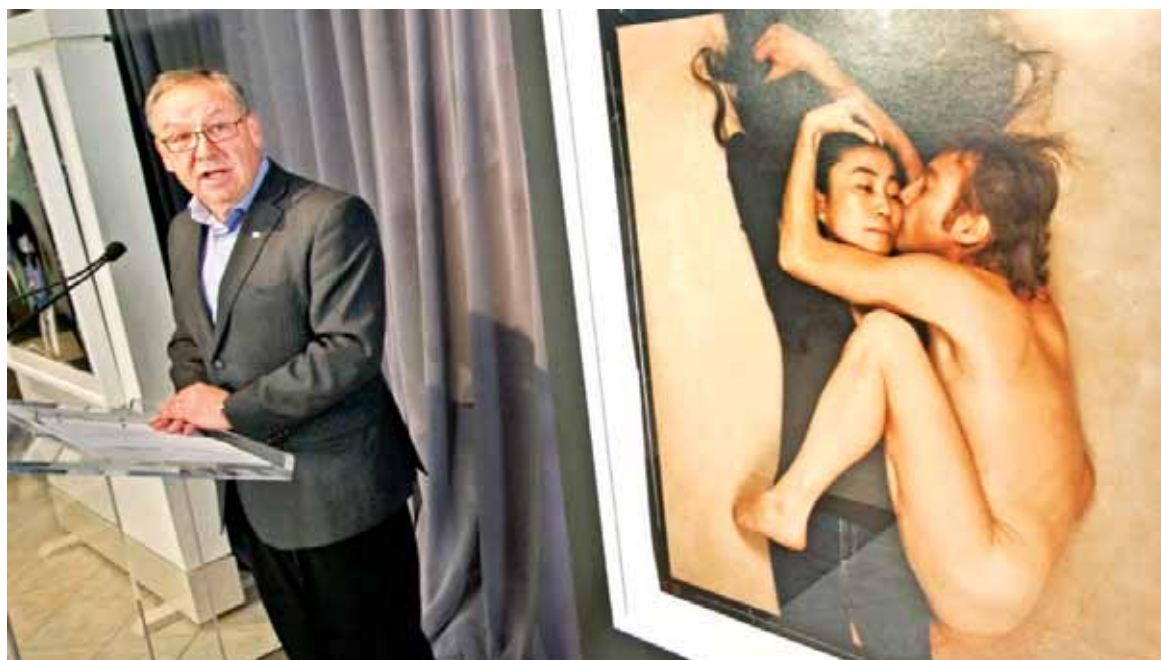

"Since pop-art we sort of have lived in a culture of fame and celebrity, and I don't think anybody has depicted that better since Andy Warhol."

Cronin said the 2,000 photos in the collection are from Leibovitz's books, published since 1983, and were donated by the children of Al and Faye Mintz.

The gallery director said the collection is unique because of the large size of the prints.

The photos of Belushi and Lennon are the smallest, at 38 by 38 inches. The largest print is 38 inches by 16 feet.

Leibovitz wanted her photos to go to a gallery with a commitment to education and Cronin says the photos can all be seen online, but are best seen in person.

'Black widow' victim not caught up in witch hunt

Melissa Anne Shepard. Fred Weeks relaxed and confident justice will be served despite suffering increased memory loss since alleged drugging incident last year

A New Glasgow man who was allegedly drugged by a woman dubbed the "Black Widow" says he holds no ill will towards the accused, despite growing instances of memory loss since the incident last year.

Melissa Ann Shepard, 78,

is scheduled to appear Monday for a judge-only trial at the Nova Scotia Supreme Court in Sydney on charges of attempted murder and administering a noxious substance to Fred Weeks.

The pair had married last September, a few weeks after they met one another. Four days after their wedding, Weeks, 75, was taken to hospital after losing consciousness while they were staying at a bed and breakfast in Sydney. The marriage was later ruled invalid by the province's Vital Statistics division after it said false information was provided on the marriage certificate.

Quoted

"A lot of people think I'm right bitter because I almost died. Well, almost doesn't count. Not to me anyway."

Fred Weeks.

Weeks said he is looking forward to the trial. "People want her hung up from a tree and cut to pieces," he said.

"I'm just very glad to get it over with and have it come to an end. I'm not worried about what she gets. Whatever she gets is what the judge will give her and that's what she deserves."

Weeks said he experienced memory lapses prior to the alleged incident, during which he was hospitalized with high levels of benzodiazepine, a tranquilizer. But he said his memory has deteriorated to the point where he forgets appointments and where he places things. "I can't remember like I used to," he said.

Shepard acquired the "Black Widow" moniker due to her criminal record, which includes manslaughter and theft, linked to relationships with other men she met in Canada and the United States.

Belief. New partnerships improve access to mental-health services

Mental-health and crisis-management professionals from across Canada got a little show and tell about two successful Halifax-based programs during a national conference Thursday.

"We believe in what we're doing. We think it works so well we want others to know they can do it too," explained Mary Pyche, program leader with Capital Health's Mental Health Mobile Crisis Team, after a presentation at the National Mental Health Police Liaison Roundtable.

Pyche and her colleagues gave detailed presentations on both the Follow-Up Next Day Service, or FUNDS program, and the recent provincial expansion of the Mental Health Mobile Crisis Team (MHMCT).

43-year-old man missing. Police make arrest as search for body continues

Police say they have made an arrest in connection with the disappearance of a man in the waters of a Cape Breton harbour last weekend. RCMP say a 40-year-old man was arrested in the community of Petit-de-Grat earlier Thursday but no charges have been laid.

Police have been investigating an alleged confrontation involving two boats following the discovery of an overturned vessel in the mouth of the harbour last Saturday.

The Mounties say searchers are continuing to look for the body of 43-year-old Philip Boudreau of Petit-de-Grat. A ground search team and an RCMP dive team are in the area. Police say Boudreau was last seen around 6 a.m. Saturday. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Victoria Paul. Third review concludes evidence doesn't support charges

A third review into the death of Victoria Paul has determined the medical evidence doesn't support laying charges.

Truro Police Service Chief David MacNeil said in late February that the department was sending the incident, in which the 44-year-old Indian Brook woman died following a period of incarceration at the Truro Police Service, to the Public Prosecution Service for a review.

"The findings are there with all three reports, so hopefully this brings some closure to the Paul family," said MacNeil.

Paul was arrested on Aug. 28, 2009, for public drunkenness and was taken to hospital the day after being arrested. She had suffered a stroke. Her family made the decision to take her off life support and she died on Sept. 5.

Following a review by Halifax Regional Police, Justice Minister Ross Landry ordered an independent review, which indicated police didn't properly monitor Paul's health while in custody.

Victoria Paul CONTRIBUTED

While she hasn't yet received the report of the Public Prosecution Service, Cheryl Maloney, the president of the Nova Scotia Native Women's Association, said the association is "disappointed but not surprised" by the findings.

"Where we have exhausted all avenues for Victoria's case, we can only pray that this is not going to be the standard of care for Aboriginal people in the justice system or the standard of care for Aboriginal women in particular," she said.

Premier Dexter not fazed by Muskrat Falls opposition

Consumer-group criticism. Premier says hydroelectricity project 'will change our energy landscape'

Nova Scotia Premier Darrell Dexter says criticism from consumer groups during regulatory hearings into the Muskrat Falls project doesn't faze him.

The province's consumer and small business advocates, as well as an alliance of industrial customers that includes Michelin and Imperial Oil, have raised concerns about Emera's proposal to build a subsea cable that would ship Muskrat Falls hydroelectricity to Nova Scotia.

That proposal is before Nova Scotia's Utility and Review Board, which is expected to issue a ruling by the end of July.

Dexter said Thursday he is not perturbed by the chorus of criticism, saying it's the raison d'être for consumer groups to question such developments.

"If you have a consumer group that endorses things that come along, they're out of business," he said. "The simple reality is that this is a project that ... will change our energy landscape in this province for many, many years."

No beef with beef. E. coli outbreak hasn't shaken consumer confidence

Canadian cattle producers say an E. coli outbreak that made 18 people sick and led to a recall last fall hasn't shaken consumer confidence in beef.

Canada Beef Inc., the industry's marketing arm, said total beef consumption last year was up 2.2 per cent from 2011.

Chairman Chuck MacLean said the industry supports the findings of an independent review that blamed lax attitudes by federal inspectors and staff at the XL Foods plant in Brooks, Alta., for the tainted meat.

Canada Beef said it also supports Ottawa's plan to tighten rules for meat plants and add more inspections.

"I like the 30 recommendations and I think a lot of them are already being enacted," MacLean said Thursday from Bow Island in southeastern Alberta.

Organ donation. Dying girl, 10, placed on adult waiting list for lung

The national organ transplant network has complied with a judge's order and placed a dying 10-year-old girl on the adult waiting list for a lung.

The Organ Procurement and Transplantation Network added her to the list Wednesday night after U.S. District Judge Michael Baylson's ruling, U.S. Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius said Thursday.

The girl, Sarah Murnaghan, also remains on the priority list for a lung from a pediatric donor, Sebelius said.

Sarah's parents had challenged existing policy that made children under 12 wait for pediatric lungs to become available, or be offered lungs donated by adults.

Politicians from left and right lashed out at the violence.

- "There is no place for small neo-Nazi groups whose enemy is the nation," Interior Minister Manuel Valls said.

A group of neo-Nazis beat a French far-left activist to death in the heart of Paris' shopping district, officials said Thursday, in an attack that raised fears of increased far-right violence.

Political tensions are high in France after months of protests against legalizing gay marriage that sometimes ended with troublemakers from the extreme right clashing with police.

Interior Minister Manuel Valls said a fight broke out Wednesday evening between two groups of young people in a pedestrian street just steps away from the famous Printemps department store.

The activist, Clement Meric, was initially hospitalized in grave condition, then died Thursday, said Agnes Thibault-Lecuire, spokeswoman for the Paris prosecutor's office.

Four suspects, aged 20 to 37 and believed to have links to extreme-right movements, were arrested, Thibault-Lecuire said.

Miss World pageant covers up this year

Indonesia. Pageant contestants will have to opt for more conservative sarongs instead of bikinis

Miss World has axed the famed bikinis from this year's pageant in Indonesia, replacing the skimpy swimsuits with conservative beach sarongs amid mounting protests from hardline Muslim groups, organizers said Thursday.

All of the more than 130 contestants will be required to wear Bali's traditional long sarongs instead of the sexy bikinis that are historically part of the competition, said Adjie S. Soeratmadjie of the RCTI, the official broadcaster and local organizer.

Parts of the pageant will take place on the resort island of Bali and the final round will be held Sept. 28 near the capital, Jakarta. Indonesia is the world's most populous Muslim country.

"There will be no bikini in this year's Miss World pageant to respect our traditional customs and values," Soeratmadjie said, adding that the London-based Miss World Organization is on board with the decision.

"This is a sensitive issue in Indonesia. We have discussed it since last year and they have agreed," he said.

The chairwoman of the Miss World Organization, Julia Morley, confirmed that none of the 137 contestants would wear a bikini.

Tighter rules. New bill tabled by feds adds more criteria for injection sites

The federal government has introduced tough new rules for supervised drug-injection sites, in a move some see as an effort to deter such facilities.

The government says it's a response to a Supreme Court of Canada ruling that ordered the Conservatives to keep a Vancouver clinic open against their will. But NDP health critic Libby Davies said the government is effectively blocking any chance of setting up a new clinic.

The new legislation would require advocates of new clinics to meet two dozen specific criteria before they can apply to open a new clinic. Among other things, they would have to canvass community opinion and gain the support of provincial and municipal authorities.

The health minister would then make the final decision.

As Health Minister Leona

Aglukkaq tabled her bill on Thursday, she made it clear which way she will lean.

"Our government believes that a site involving the use of illicit substances should be strictly controlled to protect everyone in the community," she told reporters. "Accordingly, we believe that the application process needs to be changed to create formal opportunities for local voices to be heard and their views considered before an exemption would be considered."

In a note attached to the petition, Conservative Party operations director Jenni Byrne says, "special interests are trying to open up these supervised drug consumption sites in cities and towns across Canada — over the objections of local residents and law enforcement."

The good in games. Findings show video games have an upside

If you still think video games will rot your kid's brain, Dr. Kathy Sanford has something to tell you.

"Painting things with a simplistic, negative brush is not helpful at all," the University of Victoria professor said. "Video games aren't going away, so we need to think about more deep and complex issues rather than just saying don't play them," — and that's exactly what Sanford is doing.

For the past three years, she's observed children playing video games to see how it affects their development. What she's found may shock some parents.

"They're actually learning

As well, video games that feature collaborative or team play also teach kids how to negotiate and cooperate with their peers. LUKE SIMCOE/METRO

Pope weighs in on global food waste

Study. UN food agency research finds that one-third of food produced in the world is lost or wasted

Pope Francis added his voice to the growing campaign against food waste on World Environment Day, attacking a "culture of waste" that is "stealing from the table of those who are poor and hungry."

Awareness around the campaign has grown rapidly, with the European Parliament recently adopting a resolution to halve food waste in member states by 2025.

Activists welcomed the Pope's remarks.

"What he said was right," said Tristram Stuart, founder of activist group Feeding the 5000, part of the EU FUSIONS initiative (Food Use of Social Innovation by Optimising Waste Prevention Strategies). "Wasting imported food means the locals in food-insecure areas cannot buy it, so it is taken off their table."

But the focus should be more on the suppliers, Stuart claimed. "Retailers shouldn't deflect attention to the consumer, most food waste is in the supply chain. But consumers have the responsibility to ensure the businesses we buy from every day are held to account."

One strategy is to audit the supply and release comprehensive figures on waste.

"Compared to other campaigns like climate change, food waste is something that strikes people as instinctively wrong, from a taxi driver in Delhi to a CEO in New York, and there are relatively simple solutions," Stuart says.

International supermarkets have been slow to commit to waste-cutting proposals. Charlie Clutterbuck of the U.K. Food Ethics Council recommends people can influence them by buying closer to home.

TRAFFIC ADVISORY Forest Hills Extension- Night time Closures

Starting June 10th the Forest Hills Extension (Highway 107), between Highway 118 and Main Street in Dartmouth, will be closed to all traffic during night time hours for repaving and widening.

During weekdays the road will be closed from 7 p.m. until 5 a.m. On Saturday and Sunday morning the road will stay closed until 8 a.m.

By doing this work at night the Province is able to maintain normal traffic flow during the busy daytime hours and reduce the inconvenience to the majority of drivers who use this road.

While the Forest Hills Extension is closed a detour will direct traffic onto Highway 118, Highway 111, and Main Street. The province will provide six variable-message boards, and other signs to inform the public of the road closure.

The project will take about 40 days to complete. During that time drivers travelling at night should adjust their travel times to accommodate the detour.

It would take more than four consecutive days to view every item in what just might be the world's largest wine-label collection.

Toronto resident and former sommelier Alain Laliberte owns about 160,000 wine labels, carefully stored in 123 shoeboxes. He has contacted Guinness World Records because he is confident he has enough to break the current high of 16,349 labels.

Of course, he hasn't managed to taste the contents of all 160,000 bottles. But with an average of 5,000 wines sampled per year, he's not that far off.

"It's interesting that some people find an interest in these small pieces of paper. Some of them are pieces of art."

Wine-label collector Alain Laliberte

Laliberte's hobby led last weekend to him becoming the jury president at a wine-labels championship, organized as part of the International Wine Championship in Quebec City. Strawberry fields under the weather

At least 40 per cent of Nova Scotia's strawberry industry, a sector worth about $18 million annually, has been damaged by an insect-borne virus, provincial Agriculture Minister John MacDonell said Thursday. The virus is carried by aphids and has been detected in the Debert area, near Truro, as well as the Annapolis Valley. But MacDonell said he wasn't worried about the possibility of the virus spreading much further because of the relatively short distances aphids travel. The affected plants aren't harmful to eat but they are often stunted and can't be sold, and berries may disappear from the plants. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS FILE

FEMALE VIAGRA HARD TO SWALLOW

1 Sexyspecs. Google Glass users were briefly treated to some mobile porn before the Internet giant's moral police yanked it out from under them. The perfectly respectable app, entitled T'ts and Glass, allowed users to share unfiltered content, and they stopped it. Kudos to Google for taking a stand and saying, "Hey, you can watch porn on your desktops, laptops and smartphones all you want, just not while you're crossing the street, dammit!"

2 Calling occupants. NASA Prof. Joel Levine is looking for $650 million to finance an aerial regional-scale environmental survey. Basically, a robotic, rocket-powered airplane to fly around Mars searching for trace gases that prove there is life on the planet. We have no information on how much the Martians spent probing Earth for humans with trace gases.

3 Badass Biebs. Justin Bieber is smoking weed, getting inked, hanging with gangsta rappers, and wearing white undershirts with gold chains. He's taken to fast cars and has even added a lazy little ghetto-strut to his walk. I am just waiting for his first teardrop tattoo so I can actually start listening to his music.

4 Subcellular. A recent study revealed that even though Google's Android phones captured a majority of the U.S. smartphone market share, the average iPhone user spends more than 50 per cent more time actually using their device than Android users. The reason? Porn.

5 Forever young. Researchers in Australia performed a study of sun damage among 900 people. Some applied sunscreen on a daily basis, while others used it only when they felt exposed. After four years, those using sunscreen religiously had 24 per cent less skin aging than the others. They were also extremely pale, completely broke, and more prone to having objects slip from their greasy hands.

6 For the ladies. A Dutch company called Emotional Brain is performing clinical trials of a new drug, Lybrido. The female Viagra is said to treat hypoactive sexual desire disorder. HSDD is a lack of sexual desire affecting many women. If the research proves successful, scientists will immediately begin work on another pill that will make women care enough to take the first one.

7 Double dribble. Former NBA all-stars Jason Kidd and Grant Hill were drafted one after the other in 1994, shared Rookie of the Year honours in 1995, and at 40, were among the five oldest players in the league this year. This week, two days after Grant Hill retired, Jason Kidd announced he would do the same. Sources close to Hill say he is looking for a new home as far away from Kidd as possible.

8 This week. In 1969, Keith Richards and partner Anita Pallenberg were in a car accident near their home in Sussex. While the car was written off and Pallenberg suffered a broken collarbone, Richards escaped serious injury, proving once again that Keith cannot be killed.

9 Also this week. In 1997, Oasis guitarist Noel Gallagher played a five-song set at the Tibet Freedom Concert. He then walked off stage, got drunk and punched out a fan. I'm kidding. That was not the night he punched out a fan.

10 Happy anniversary. To my wife of several years, thanks for putting up with me.

@metropicks asked: Giving employees sick days is becoming obsolete. What's the best way to use your sick day?

@Astroboi8: If people use sick days as extra vacation days. Then those who are moral are penalized.

@FrenchmanCanada: Getting better, isn't that the point?

@jarmak77: It's best not to use a sick day since most places I worked discipline you for using them.

@hoodPALS: Visit tanning salon for deep tan, get new wardrobe, and visit the amusement park and post photos on Facebook.

@RaiderRoddy: when you are actually sick !!!

@mcpeto: watching Ferris Bueller's Day Off

@HfxHeathen: Oh, good. Take away my 3 unpaid sick days a year. Productivity soars when there's sneezing in the next cubicle.

@LegendaryAres: Sometimes, you just need a day off. What's wrong with making them use up a sick day to get it? Sounds fair to me.

Synopsis

This new buddy comedy pairs Owen Wilson and Vince Vaughn for the first time since 2005's Wedding Crashers. They are Nick and Billy, two wild and crazy guys whose sales jobs are made obsolete in the technological age. Unable to get a foothold in the new media field they crash Google's Mountain View, Calif. headquarters and become "noogles" in hopes of landing gigs as interns, despite having no experience with computers. "We're looking at some sort of mental Hunger Games against a bunch of genius kids for just a handful of jobs," says Nick.

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Searching for laughs

The Internship.

Owen Wilson and Vince Vaughn fail to rekindle that Wedding Crashers magic in this poor man's version of Revenge of the Nerds

Richard: Mark, this is the funniest infomercial I've ever seen. As a comedy movie it doesn't rate that high, but as an advertisement for Google it's a knee slapper. I've seen product placement in movies before, but this is something else. By the time Rose Byrne's character says, "I believe what we do here makes people's lives better," I was ready to worship at the Church of the Sacred Search Engine. We also learn that Google is ranked as the best place to work in America. That's all great, but I was hoping for more laughs with my infomercial. What did you think?

Mark: Ugh! The shameless corporate tie-in made me want to take a shower. And it opens up the door for less savoury companies to do the same thing: can Monsanto: The Movie be far behind? It's too bad, because the leads are great, and it's a great premise — but I didn't laugh once. It could have been a version of Animal House set at a business behemoth, but comes off as a bad Revenge of the Nerds. The idea would make a great reality series, but the movie flops and feels engineered from the first frame onwards.

RC: I'm not so sure I thought the leads were great. There are some laughs in The Internship. Unfortunately, very few of them are generated by Vaughn and Wilson. The chemistry that made Wedding Crashers such a big hit eight years ago is still in place, but the material isn't. They still banter a blue streak but it feels tired and old, like many of the jokes. The two luddites at a tech mecca should have been workable, but it often feels like laughing at grandpa because he can't figure out how to work the remote.

MB: I meant the leads are great, but not in this movie! Everything seems laboured, underscored, and over directed. These two guys may preach the value of eccentricity in the workplace, but the script defies their goal at every turn. It's a very conventional movie that's even a little smarmy at times. The old Vince Vaughn would have made fun of the sentimentality that crowds any good moments out of the picture. And Wilson's role is just too vaporous to register.

RC: Perhaps next time the screenwriters can Google some better jokes.

MB: I say Yahoo! to that.

Drama

Mud

Director. Jeff Nichols

Stars. Matthew McConaughey, Reese Witherspoon

This slow moving Mississippi river-set movie features infidelity, murder and theft, but at its heart it isn't really about any of those things. Not really. Instead it's a story about the things we do for love. When two 14-year-old boys discover a mysterious stranger named Mud (Matthew McConaughey) living on a remote island, they get drawn into a possibly illegal scheme to reunite the loner with his true love Juniper (Reese Witherspoon). Methodical and moody, the film takes its time telling the story, but the performances are stellar and quietly effective.

RICHARD CROUSE

Thriller

The Purge

Director. James DeMonaco

Stars. Ethan Hawke, Lena Headey

To call The Purge cooked-up is an injustice to baked goods. A dystopian futuristic thriller about a family enduring an annual 12-hour government-backed event whereby crimes of any sort are legal (somehow this curbs violence the other 364 days of the calendar?) is as contrived and callous as cinema gets. If the filmmaker's aim was to create a moral allegory akin to A Clockwork Orange, he didn't even come within an eyelash.

STEVE GOW

There's not much 'Buzz' in space: Aldrin

While astronaut Buzz Aldrin enjoys movies about space, he doesn't always think they get it right. His main point of contention after seeing After Earth: "There was a lot of noise. In space, you don't get that much noise." Aldrin, who followed Neil Armstrong onto the surface of the moon during the historic Apollo 11 landing in 1969, says that "noise doesn't propagate in a vacuum. We talked over headsets." Aldrin enjoyed the father-son dynamic between Will Smith and son Jaden, but thought there was a little too much "shoot'em-up" for his taste. "I hope the aliens are more peaceful than they are in this film, wherever they are," Aldrin joked.

Green explores Alexis breakup on new album

Interview. Former Alexisonfire frontman Dallas Green talks about his depression after leaving band he helped form

Dallas Green.
CHRIS YOUNG/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two years ago, Little Hell granted City and Colour's Dallas Green his greatest success yet — platinum sales, his first chart-topping album and eventually, a Juno Award for songwriter of the year. So naturally, as he toured his most popular record yet, he was miserable.

That Green was blue had nothing to do with Little Hell, which he liked, but instead a heavy secret he'd been toting: the 32-year-old had already decided to depart the beloved post-hardcore band he'd helped to found more than a decade earlier, Alexisonfire, but news wouldn't reach the public until months later.

"Making Little Hell, I knew I had left the band," he recalled during a recent interview at an east Toronto bar. "I was lying to all the public, right? ... And that really (messed) me up."

It took making The Hurry and the Harm — out Tuesday — to help heal Green. As he was wrapping up the Little Hell tour, he "rekindled his relationship" with the rest of Alexisonfire and they announced plans for a farewell jaunt.

He decided to work quickly, wanting to figure out new songs before re-immersing himself in the Alexis headspace before their bittersweet victory lap. In Nashville and Toronto, he put together The Hurry and the Harm and had a "wonderful experience." After completing the Alexis tour, he was suddenly in a far more positive place than he had been in a long time.

"For the first time in eight or nine years, I didn't have anything to do," he said. "I had the record done ... and I finished and closed the book on the Alexis chapter. The first couple weeks of January are the first two weeks I've ever relaxed, like literally relaxed, in eight or nine years. And it was a really big moment. It was like a proverbial weight off my shoulders."

CTV adds Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D. in with fall TV lineup

Network news. The Joss Whedon-created series will anchor a new Tuesday lineup

Buzzy shows starring Toni Collette, Josh Holloway, Malin Akerman and Bethenny Frankel are joining a revamped CTV lineup, but the network is touting a relative scarcity of new series as testament to a consistent, stable schedule.

The market leader notes it's picked up only four new dramas, two new comedies and one new unscripted series for prime time this fall.

They include the Collette thriller Hostages, also featuring Dylan McDermott and Tate Donovan; Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D., created by Joss Whedon; the paranormal drama The Tomorrow People and the police drama Played.

The Whedon show will anchor a whole new lineup Tuesday, to be followed by the '80s-set family comedy The Goldbergs and the new sitcom

Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D. HANDOUT

Trophy Wife, starring Bradley Whitford and Akerman. The night is capped by Person of Interest, which jumps to CTV after previously airing on City.

Meanwhile, budding chefs are the stars of Junior Masterchef, a spin-off of the culinary competition series that will showcase talented kids between the ages of eight and 13 in food challenges and cook-offs.

More is on the way for mid-season, with additions including Holloway's high-tech spy show Intelligence, the mystical drama Believe from Lost creator J.J. Abrams and Masterchef Canada, a Canadian version of the Gordon Ramsay hit.

Mid-season comedies include Kirstie Alley in her self-titled comedy, Kirstie, the serialized sitcom Mixology, Dave Foley's new multi-cam comedy Spun Out, and the '90s-set family comedy Surviving Jack, with former Law & Order: Special Victims Unit star Christopher Meloni.

"Year-after-year, CTV offers programming consistency and durability not found anywhere else," Phil King, president of CTV programming and sports, said Thursday in a statement.

Executives were to introduce the new lineup with all-day promotional events Thursday featuring Frankel, Donovan and Delroy Lindo from Believe.

Daytime this fall will see the addition of the homegrown talk show The Social and the official arrival of Frankel's talk show Bethenny, which previewed with a short run last year.

And Late Night with Jimmy Fallon joins CTV in the fall, with Seth Meyers in the chair this winter after Fallon leaves to take over The Tonight Show from Jay Leno. It will follow The Daily Show and lead into Conan.

Meanwhile, CTV is moving Dancing With the Stars, Tuesday's edition of The Voice, The X Factor, American Idol and Undercover Boss over to CTV Two this fall.

CTV also announced that its entire new lineup will be available on CTV GO, an on-demand platform allowing viewers to access a live stream of the channel as well as premium on-demand programming. It debuts this fall. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ethan Hawke gushes over Cage's acting abilities

Ethan Hawke admits he's more than a little "obsessed" with fellow actor Nicolas Cage. "He's the only actor since Marlon Brando that's actually done anything new with the art of acting," he said during a Q&A session on Reddit. "He's successfully taken us away from an obsession with naturalism into a kind of presentation style of acting that I imagine was popular with the old troubadours. If I could erase his bottom half bad movies and only keep his top half movies, he would blow everyone out of the water." No word, though, on whether Hawke is going to let Cage influence his own acting style.

Tatum worries about Bieber's development

Despite having a newborn daughter at home to concern himself with, Channing Tatum admits he's more worried about another young person: Justin Bieber. "I do believe that whatever age you become famous, you end up staying that age," Tatum tells Vanity Fair. "I worry about Bieber, man. That kid's wildly talented. I hope he doesn't fall down into the usual ways of young kids because it's so hard for someone to be responsible when they're not asked to be."

DOG DAYS OF SUMMER

FUN ACTIVITIES FOR YOU AND YOUR PET

Discover the joy of being active with your canine companion. Try some of these fun activities:

1 Go for a walk. Sounds basic, but many pet owners don't make it a daily practice. "Behaviour problems and obesity — the No. 1 medical problem for dogs — can arise from inadequate exercise," says Dr. Deji Odetoyinbo, a veterinarian with a busy urban practice in Toronto and 12 years experience in emergency medicine.

2 Play fetch. Whether you use balls, squeak toys or some other retrievable object, many dogs love fetching. "Dogs are social animals and retrieving something is an interaction that's mentally gratifying and intensely rewarding."

3 Go for a swim. Dogs generally like water, but swimming comes with a few caveats. "Not every breed should be allowed in water — bulldogs in particular," Odetoyinbo says. "Make sure the current is safe. And remember that floating algae can be deadly, so if the water has a blue-green film, keep your dog out."

4 Go for obedience training. This is especially important for younger dogs, but even old dogs can learn new tricks. "It's also a good way to solidify the bond between pet and owner."

5 Take your dog visiting. A well-behaved dog can do wonders for seniors and those with developmental disabilities. "Talk to your vet first to ensure your dog has the right temperament and is free of communicable health problems, since some people you encounter may be immune-compromised," Odetoyinbo says.

GEM PHOTOGRAPHY/VEER

6 Go on vacation. "Just make sure to take along first aid items, medications and food (in case you can't get your regular brand where you are going). Give your dog plenty of bathroom breaks, water and cool air while driving. Ensure immunizations are up to date and check that your destination is pet friendly."

IOFOTO/VEER

STRETCHING YOUR LEGS WITH YOUR FOUR-LEGGED FRIEND

To keep walks happy, comfortable and safe, here is a quick list of things to consider when you are out and about with your four-legged friend this summer, compiled with the help of Dr. Deji Odetoyinbo, a Toronto veterinarian with 12 years experience in emergency medicine.

Plan your route. It's easy to head out, then find that you have gone too far and your pet is struggling. "Especially short-faced breeds like pugs and bulldogs can suffer severe respiratory distress if they're exercised on hot days," Odetoyinbo says.

Stay on the grass. Concrete or paved surfaces can cause burned foot pads if you are walking on a hot day. "Staying on a path or grassy surface will keep paws cooler and act as better cushioning for a dog's joints."

Go early or late. "Many dogs keep going until they drop, so it's important to ensure they don't get overheated. Walk early or late in the day when it's cooler."

Take a leash. "Even if you're headed to an off-leash zone, your pet should be leashed en route." Not all dogs are well-behaved in the dog park, so it's best to be able to leash your pet if it or other dogs it is playing with are acting up.

Carry enough poop bags. One dog, one bag, right? Wrong! You may need extras since some dogs go multiple times — or someone else in the park might be stuck. "Three bags is a good number," Odetoyinbo says.

Don't forget water. Most dogs aren't trained to drink out of a bottle. "There are great collapsible containers that double as a dispenser that are handy and easy to carry." Check your local pet store.

Planning a wedding is no piece of cake, although you do get one in the end. But the road to the big day can be bumpy, especially when it comes to choosing wine to be served for that all important toast to the bride.

Try to focus on wines that will charm everyone from your know-it-all boss to your new mother-in-law. Worry less about what you prefer and more about what the majority of your guests will enjoy.

Then there's the cost. Here is where size matters. There's a savings component when you trade up, so bigger is always better.

The selection of 1.5 litre bottles varies wildly across the country. So does their flavour profiles, with many "Canadian" versions made from a blend of imported and domestic juice.

Chile offers some of the best value when it comes to larger bottles, with Concha y Toro's 2011 Frontera Cabernet Sauvignon Merlot (1,500 ml, $13.95 to $19.99) offering bright, red berry fruit and Frontera Sauvignon Blanc (1,500 ml, $13.95 to $19.99) showing off gooseberry and citrus expression.

Truth be told, they're what I served at my nuptials.

A great way to make your own healthier pizzas is to use thin flour tortillas or pita bread rather than the thick pizza dough that has more calories than nutrients!

Use whatever vegetables and cheese you like.

1. Preheat the oven to 400 F. Place pita bread or tortillas on pizza metal or ceramic dish.

2. Divide the tomato sauce among the breads, ensuring to spread evenly.

Ingredients

- 4 flour small tortillas or pita breads (preferably whole wheat)
- 3/4 cup tomato pasta sauce
- 8 small mushrooms, thinly sliced
- 1/4 cup diced sweet red or green pepper
- 1 tbsp chopped fresh basil
- 1/2 tsp dried oregano
- 1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese
- 1/4 cup chopped feta cheese (optional)

This recipe serves eight or makes 16 hors d'oeuvres. MARK SHAPIRO, FROM ROSE REISMAN BRINGS HOME LIGHT COOKING (ROBERT ROSE)

Moose GM won't rule out surprises at draft

QMJHL. Though confident with returning roster, Cam Russell says anything could happen on draft weekend.

ANDREW RANKIN
andrew.rankin@metronews.ca

Cam Russell isn't planning a blockbuster deal, but he admits anything could happen on draft weekend.

Confident he'll ice a solid squad next season, the Halifax Mooseheads' general manager is going into Friday's trade window and QMJHL draft day on Saturday in Chicoutimi, Que., feeling relaxed and excited.

But given the inherent unpredictability of the event, there's always potential for fireworks.

"I find that a lot of that happens as you go; you don't always go in with a plan of doing that, or you can go in with a plan of doing that, but it doesn't mean it's going to happen," said Russell. "Right now we're not looking at making a big blockbuster trade but anything can happen on the draft floor."

Russell is confident in the existing depth on the Mooseheads' roster, even if it doesn't include the team's top line of Nathan MacKinnon, Jonathan Drouin and Marty Frk, who all have a realistic shot of playing pro next year.

Russell won't have the luxury of a first-round pick, but with two second-round selections (34th and 38th overall), the Mooseheads should net a couple of talented impact players. The Mooseheads' other 10 selections include fourth-, fifth- and seventh-round picks.

Having done his homework, Russell's approaching this weekend open-minded.

"We're looking for all positions; we're looking for the best players. We've felt we've done a good job in the past with drafting players, we expect no different this time."

Besides that, the Mooseheads have the good fortune of having two first-round picks in the upcoming CHL Import Draft, who will replace Frk and San Jose Sharks prospect Konrad Abeltshauser.

"It's pretty exciting. But it's also sad to say goodbye to Marty and Konrad, they've been such a big part of our hockey team for so long ...

but you're going to see very good players come in here and they're going to be exciting guys to watch."

The Mooseheads are slated to make their first selection in the draft with the 34th pick.

Nova Scotians could serve as dark horses

Maybe Saturday's QMJHL draft doesn't boast a bonanza of top-level Nova Scotian talent, but there are a few up-and-comers worth watching out for.

Based on the league's Central Scouting Service, no Nova Scotian is a projected first-rounder, but three Haligonians are expected to be selected in the following, second round.

Topping the trio, in the 25th spot, is Cameron Lee, a defenceman who suited up for Northwood prep school in New York. Halifax Titans teammates Nicholas Welsh and Campbell Pickard are listed just behind Lee, in the 27th and 30th slots.

Halifax Mooseheads general manager Cam Russell said he'd love to have all kinds of players from Nova Scotia and its capital, but not at the expense of talent.

"Everybody wants to have hometown kids on their roster, that doesn't mean that you're not going to take the best player that's available," said Russell.

"We owe it to the organization and fans to put the best team together as possible."

Lucas Sangster of the Pictou Weeks Crushers is the next highest projected Nova Scotian pick at 42nd overall.

Five other Nova Scotians are projected to go in the fourth and fifth rounds, including Cape Breton West Islanders centre Colby Tower (55), forward Noah Bauld (68) of Northwood prep, forward Bradley Kennedy (72) of the Cape Breton West Islanders and forwards Jesse Hamer (83) and Andrew Shewfelt (88) of Dartmouth Taylor Flooring. ANDREW RANKIN/METRO

Blackhawks inching closer to Cup berth

NHL Playoffs. Marian Hossa breaks third period deadlock as Chicago beats L.A. 3-2

Marian Hossa scored the tie-breaking goal early in the third period, and the Chicago Blackhawks moved to the brink of the Stanley Cup finals with a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Kings on Thursday night in Game 4 of the Western Conference finals.

Patrick Kane tapped home the tying goal as Chicago rallied from a second-period deficit to snap the defending Stanley Cup champions' 15-game home-winning streak since March. Bryan Bickell had a goal and an assist for the top-seeded Blackhawks, who took a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series.

playoff games at Staples Center. The champs are in trouble after Jonathan Quick failed to match Corey Crawford, who made 19 saves.

Game 5 is Saturday night in Chicago.

The Blackhawks won without top defenceman Duncan Keith, who served a one-game suspension for high-sticking Jeff Carter in the face during the second period of Game 3. Sheldon Brookbank filled in while Chicago played strong team defence in front of Crawford, who has matched the Conn Smythe Trophy winner in the other net.

Los Angeles hadn't lost a playoff game at home since Game 4 of the Stanley Cup finals last season, winning nine straight overall, but the Blackhawks figured out how to end the NHL's longest home post-season winning run since 2009. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spurs edge Heat in Game 1

The Spurs' Tim Duncan and Chris Bosh of the Heat open the NBA Finals with a jump ball on Thursday night in Miami. Duncan scored 20 points and grabbed 14 rebounds as San Antonio went on to win 92-88. Game 2 is Sunday in Miami. CHRISTIAN PETERSEN/GETTY IMAGES

French Open

It's a Serena, Maria final showdown

Serena Williams reached the French Open final for the first time since 2002 when she beat Sara Errani 6-0, 6-1 Thursday.

The No. 1-ranked Williams' opponent Saturday will be defending champion Maria Sharapova, who defeated Victoria Azarenka 6-1, 2-6, 6-4.

Against Errani, the runner-up last year, Williams took control by winning 26 of 34 points in the opening set. The match was 37 minutes old before Errani won a game, and the crowd responded with a roar as the Italian raised her arms in mock jubilation.

Williams was undeterred and extended her career-best winning streak to 30 consecutive matches. She improved to 20-3 in major semifinals.

The 15-time Grand Slam champion won her only Roland Garros title 11 years ago, beating sister Venus in the final.

Horoscopes

Aries

March 21 - April 20

Try not to let your anxieties get the better of you. As Neptune turns retrograde in the most sensitive area of your chart today, you may see problems where none exist. Act as if life is wonderful — and it will be.

Taurus

April 21 - May 21

Today's events will encourage you to believe that all things are possible. But they could also tempt you to take foolish risks, so think before you act. If you make a mistake, fix it.

Gemini

May 22 - June 21

Keep things simple today. Also, tread carefully when dealing with employers and other important people. They may see you as a threat and try to clip your wings.

Cancer

June 22 - July 23

The planets warn you should watch what you say today, especially if you are one of those Cancerians who tend to speak before fully engaging your brain. You are entitled to your opinion but others are just as entitled to disagree.

Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

You will act on impulse quite a bit over the next 24 hours. Just be careful you don't say anything that could have a negative financial impact.

Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

Your emotions may be raging but you are determined not to let anyone know about it. That's probably a good move, because if your rivals realize how deep your feelings are, they may exploit them.

Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

Don't let your responsibilities weigh you down. It does not matter how much work you have to do or how far behind you are in your schedule, you must remain cheerful.

Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

Others may give in to despair today but no way are you going to let it affect you. In fact, the more those around you indulge in feelings of doom and gloom, the more you will laugh at them.

Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

Don't feel guilty about what happens to others. You are not responsible for the world and its woes and those who say you are should be laughed at loud and long.

Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

Neptune's apparent change of direction in the travel area of your chart will leave you a bit confused about what you should be doing and where you should be going. The good news is there's no need to rush.

Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

You may think you know what is going on but the planets warn you are missing an important piece of the puzzle and it could cost you money. Whatever else you do today, don't take chances.

Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

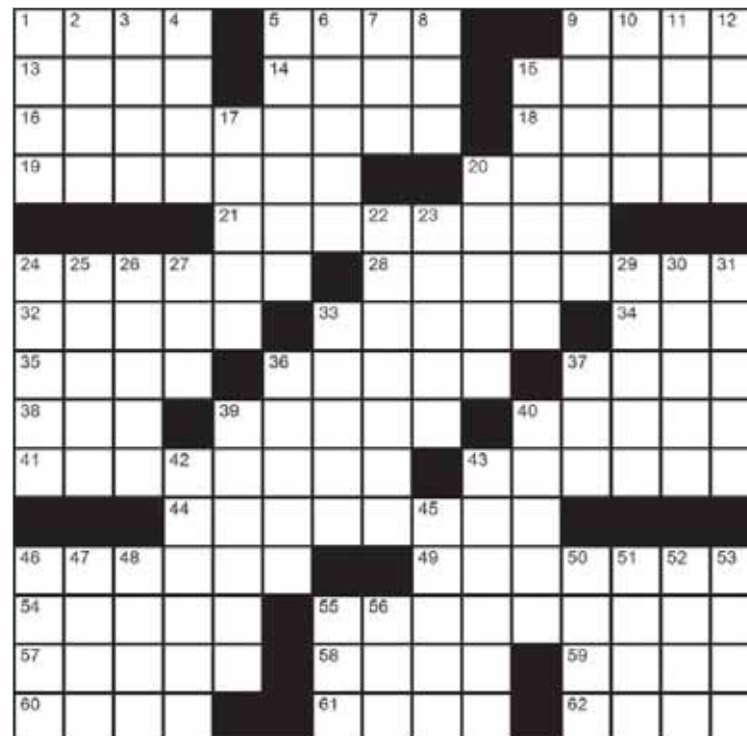

Neptune, your ruler, begins one of its retrograde phases today. Don't be surprised if important issues seem to move in the opposite direction of where you want them to.
